

September 2019 Entry
Application Guidelines for M.A. Program / Ph.D. Program
Graduate Program on Global Society
Graduate School of Arts and Sciences
The University of Tokyo

Program Overview

The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, which is located on the University of Tokyo's Komaba Campus, launched a new program, the Graduate Program on Global Society (GSP), in the fall of 2012. The Program focuses on the theme of human existence in the age of globalization and seeks to cultivate the agenda-shaping and problem-solving leadership demanded by our multipolar world.

Advances in science and technology require that we question our perspectives on the political, legal, ethical, and ecological dimensions of the human condition. In order to address the challenges of this reality and take advantage of the possibilities that it offers, GSP has developed a program dedicated to exploring the complex relation between law and governance, forging new avenues of multilateral cooperation, and identifying alternate ways of structuring societies in our increasingly global and interdependent world.

GSP is a comprehensive program designed for students interested in crossing the disciplinary boundaries between the humanities and social sciences. Its focus centers upon modern Japanese and Asian societies and the experiences of modernity particular to them. The Program, however, also places such experiences in a wider, comparative contextual framework and, in so doing, sheds light on the diverse and interdependent nature of global society.

The working language of the program is English, but the language and style of communication may vary according to individual courses and interests. All courses offered in GSP are open to students affiliated with the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, as well as other graduate schools and programs within the University. GSP students have access to courses offered by other schools and programs in the University system, contingent upon the demonstration of language competency.

Programs

M.A. program

Our M.A. program is tailored to students in the humanities and social sciences who are interested in the political, social, ecological, cultural, or ethical aspects of human existence in global society. It features curriculum that is designed to: 1) further understanding of the changing socio-cultural landscape in Japan, in Asia, and around the world; and 2) cultivate the skills needed to shape agendas and solve problems in our current era of globalization.

Ph.D. program

Our Ph.D. program is designed to develop highly qualified researchers capable of making original contributions to scholarship in the humanities and social sciences. Students are expected to conduct independent research focusing on political, social, ecological, cultural, and/or ethical aspects of human existence in a multipolar world. The program is particularly suited for those students who wish to pursue a career as a researcher or professional in fields related to the study of global society.

GSP students will be concurrently enrolled in GSP and one of the four departments of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences: Language and Information Sciences; Interdisciplinary Cultural Studies; Area Studies; or Advanced Social and International Studies. Students must follow GSP curriculum guidelines, however, in order to meet their degree requirements.

For more information, please visit our website at <http://gsp.c.u-tokyo.ac.jp/>.

* The application fee must be paid between December 3, 2018 and January 16, 2019. Application materials cannot be reviewed without receipt of the application fee. Refund of the application fee is not possible under any circumstances.

*All fees will be waived for MEXT (Monbukagakusho) scholarship students. However, those who have applied for MEXT scholarships, but have not yet been notified of their results, must pay the application fee.

*Applicants to the Ph.D. Program who expect to obtain a Master's or professional degree from the University of Tokyo in the autumn 2019 are exempt from the application and enrollment fees.

1. Eligibility

M.A. program

Those who have completed or who expect to complete their undergraduate education (a Bachelor's degree or the equivalent) by the time of enrollment * are eligible to apply for the M.A. program.

Applicants whose qualifications differ in any other respect from those stated above must contact the GPEAK Admissions Office by November 1, 2018.

For details, please refer to Appendix 1.

* Note: Those who expect to complete their undergraduate education (a Bachelor's degree or the equivalent) by September 30, 2019 must consult the GPEAK Admissions Office in advance.

Ph.D. program

Those who have or are expected to have a Master's degree or the equivalent (including Ph.D. candidacy) by the time of enrollment * are eligible to apply for the Ph.D. program.

Please note that applicants whose qualifications differ in any other respect from those stated above must contact the GPEAK Admissions Office by November 1, 2018.

For details, please refer to Appendix 2.

* Note: Those who are expected to have a Master's degree or the equivalent (including Ph.D. candidacy) by September 30, 2019 must consult the GPEAK Admissions Office in advance.

2. Selection

Selection for admission is based on the evaluation of the materials submitted by the applicant. A personal interview may be required at the discretion of the GSP Admissions Committee.

Selection for admission regarding those applicants to the Ph.D. program who expect to obtain a Master's degree from GSP in the autumn 2019 is based on the student's Master's thesis, the quality of the student's work and grades while in the M.A. program, and the oral examination. Each applicant will, following the submission of his or her application, receive notification of the appointed selection date and place from the GPEAK Admissions Office.

3. Application Period

Applications for admission will be accepted from January 4 to January 16, 2019.

Applicants are required to send all application materials in one package by registered mail or via couriers such as EMS, DHL, or FEDEX. The application documents may NOT be hand-delivered, faxed, or emailed. Applications will only be considered valid if they are postmarked no later than January 16, 2019, and delivered to the GPEAK Admissions Office by January 21, 2019. Make sure to retain the proof of the postmark date.

The GPEAK Admissions Office is not responsible for any delay in the delivery of the documents.

Applicants to the Ph.D. program who expect to obtain a Master's degree from GSP in the autumn 2019 must submit their application materials, in person, to the GPEAK Admissions Office during the period of May 7 to May 10, 2019.

4. Notification of Result

All applicants will be notified of the results of their applications on March 11, 2019 via e-mail. A formal notification in writing will be sent only to successful applicants. The university cannot respond to inquiries regarding the results of any part of the screening process. Results of the selection process regarding those applicants to the Ph.D. program who expect to obtain a Master's degree from GSP in the autumn 2019 will be sent on July 31, 2019 via e-mail and followed by formal notification in writing.

5. Application Documents

Notes:

- None of the documents or materials submitted will be returned.
- All certificates must be official and original. If you cannot submit the original version, you may submit a copy that is certified by the issuing organization or your current university as a "certified true copy." The document must be identical to the original in all aspects.
- The application form and all additional documents must be submitted in English. If any of the required additional documents cannot be submitted in English, the applicant must obtain a translation of each document and submit it along with the original.
- The applicant's signature on the application form indicates that he or she certifies that all documents submitted are truthful, accurate, and entirely his or her own. The University may retroactively cancel the admission of any student who has falsified or misrepresented any part of his or her application.

A. CHECKLIST (Form #1)

B. APPLICATION FORM (Form #2)

C. Certificates of all higher degrees and diplomas awarded or an attested document certifying that the applicant will graduate from a college, university, or other institution of higher learning by the time of enrollment. M.A. program applicants must submit their Bachelor's certificate, and Ph.D. program applicants must submit both their Bachelor's and Master's certificates.

D. Official transcripts from each college, university, or other institution of higher learning attended.

E. Three letters of recommendation including Form #3. Each letter and Form # 3 must be original and must be placed in a sealed envelope and signed across the seal by the recommender. Recommenders may send their letters directly to the GPEAK Admissions Office. Letters must arrive by the application deadline, January 16, 2019.

F. TOEFL Official Score Report or IELTS Test Report Form.

Applicants must submit a copy of their Examinee Score Report (TOEFL) or Test Report Form (IELTS) with all accompanying documents within the application period. The Official Score Report (TOEFL) or Test Report Form (IELTS) should be sent, by the testing institution, directly to the GPEAK Admissions Office and must arrive at the office by February 21, 2019 (TOEFL Institution Code = 6184). Applications missing the report sent by the testing institution will not be reviewed.

English proficiency can also be demonstrated by the receipt of a Bachelor's or other advanced degree from an accredited institution of higher education where English is the primary language of instruction.

G. GRE (Graduate Record Examinations) General Test Official Score Report.

Applicants must submit a copy of all pages of their Test-taker Score Report together with all accompanying documents within the application period. The Graduate Institution Score Report should be sent, by ETS, directly to the GPEAK Admissions Office and must arrive at the office by February 21, 2019 (Institution Code = 8326). Applications will not be reviewed without the Graduate Institution Score Report.

H. Personal Statement. Applicants should describe, in 500 words or less, their past field of study, the reasons for their interest in the GSP program, their future career plans, and any other information they deem relevant to the consideration of their application.

I. Research Proposal. Applicants should describe their detailed research plans, including the tentative title of their research topic, research design and methods, and relevant sources and data for research. For those applying for the M.A. program, the proposal should be between 900 to 1,000 words (excluding reference), and for the Ph.D. program, between 1,200 to 1,500 words (excluding reference).

J. Three passport-style photos (size 4cm x 3cm). Applicants should attach one photo to the Application Form (Form #2) and enclose two additional photos with the name of the applicant written on the back of each photo. The photos must have been taken within the last 6 months.

K. One Certificate of Remittance (English or Japanese). All applicants, except MEXT (Monbukagakusho) scholarship students and applicants to the Ph.D. program who expect to obtain a Master's or a professional degree from the University of Tokyo in the autumn 2019 must pay the application fee prior to submitting the application. Students residing outside of Japan must pay the application fee through the University of Tokyo's online payment system (e-payment). Please visit the website (<https://e-shiharai.net/english>) and follow the instructions. The printed "result" page will constitute the "Certificate of Remittance" and must be enclosed with the application. Those residing in Japan may pay by bank transfer using a specified payment slip, by credit card, or at a convenience store. Further details are provided on Form #4. The Certificate of Remittance should be attached to the section designated on Form # 2 of the Application Form. MEXT scholarship students should submit a certificate of proof of their scholarship status instead of a certificate of remittance.

* Applicants to the Ph.D. program who expect to obtain a Master's degree from GSP in the autumn 2019 are only required to submit those materials listed under B, H, I and J above.

Please note that none of the documents or materials submitted will be returned.

6. Address

All application documents should be enclosed in one package and sent to the following address:

GPEAK Admissions Office

7. Notes

(1) International students are required by the Immigration Control and Refugee Recognition Act (Cabinet Order No. 319 of 1951) to obtain an appropriate visa prior to entering the GSP Program. Successful applicants will receive further information from the University by the end of May regarding the Certificate of Eligibility (COE) and visa application procedures.

(2) We strongly recommend that, prior to enrollment, applicants identify and apply for all suitable financial aid or scholarship opportunities available to them.

(3) The University reserves the right to use the personal information (such as the name and address) of the applicants for the following purposes: (i) processing applications and selecting successful candidates; (ii) announcement of successful candidates; and (iii) completing other necessary admission procedures. The personal information of admitted students may also be used for: (i) academic affairs (e.g., registration etc.); (ii) student services (e.g., health care, career support, scholarship applications, tuition exemptions, libraries, etc.); and (iii) the collection of tuition fees.

(4) The examination results used in the selection of entrants may be used to improve the university entrance examination and the quality of education at the University of Tokyo.
